

California Highway Patrol: Distracted Driving Training

Thursday, September 16, 2021
9:00 AM to 10:00 AM

According to the Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS), motor vehicle accidents are the 1st or 2nd leading cause of death in every major industry group. The BLS reports that 57% of workers who died in crashes at work in 2018 were not employed in motor vehicle operator jobs such as semi-truck operators, bus drivers, or taxi drivers. Anyone who has employees out on the road for any business-related reason needs to look into conducting driver training for their employees. This makes good business sense as driver safety training can have a tremendous positive impact on helping reduce the potential for a devastating vehicular collision and the resulting nightmare, especially if the life or health of anyone involved in the incident is taken or compromised.

Join us and CHP Officer Roberto Rodriguez for this important online training. Driving is one of the most common tasks that most of us engage in every day; whether it is going work, driving for business, or taking a leisurely drive. Unfortunately, we forget that driving is serious business that can lead to devastating consequences if we are not paying attention to the road. Who should join us? Anyone who drives as part of their job duties. This includes employees who make deliveries, pick up supplies, meet with clients in different locations, service company employees who drive a company vehicle to different locations, etc. This webinar training will help to identify risk factors and what we can do reduce the probability of being involved in a collision while on the road.
